

There's a new platform called AccrueHealth for consumer health care funding accounts, including health savings accounts (HSAs), health reimbursement accounts (HRAs) and flexible spending accounts (FSAs).

The advantages of the AccrueHealth platform are significant:

- With a strong focus on the consumer experience, this innovative platform streamlines all types of accounts with one website, one debit card, one customer service number and one app. Members can expect easier claim approvals and fewer denials.
- The platform's flexibility and diverse HSA offerings will pave the way for the next generation of reimbursement accounts – and future programs, such as financial coaching.
- While these pretax accounts obviously benefit employees, there also are benefits for employers. They include FICA tax savings for lower reported wages, enhanced benefits packages and improved employee satisfaction.
